

Digi Teachers Working Online Toolkit

Cookbook in Google Sites

WHAT: Collaboration in Google Sites

WHY: To study goal-directed during distance teaching, to learn to collaborate online, to practice Google Sites, to increase professionalism.

WHO: A group of 11 students of catering and restaurant services. Aged over 16. The digital skills varied.

WHAT: A group had a webpage (in Google Sites) where each student had their own subpage. Each student chose one recipe they had tried at home during distance teaching and put it on the webpage. This made the distance studying more meaningful and taught new digital skills. Also, collaboration skills improved.

WHICH: Each student needs a computer – and some of the students preferred to work with a mobile device.

HOW: Try sites.google.com for free. You will only need a Google account. It is possible to produce professional looking webpages.
